THE OPPORTUNITY

Cade Barr Business Park marks Cedar Coast’s first development project in the City of Mission. Situated along the northeast corner of the popular Dewdney Trunk Road and Cade Barr Street, the 18.2-acre site will anchor four light-industrial buildings, totaling 400,000 + SF. The project will include viable opportunities for growing businesses and the dedication of a new fire hall servicing the surrounding community of Mission.

THE PROJECT

Cade Bar Business Park will be comprised of four buildings and host a total area of 400,000+ SF. Located at the most southern and northern points of the site, buildings A and D will offer large bay units with dock and grade loading facilities. Buildings B and C, situated mid-site will provide small bay unit options.

Phase 1, consisting of Building A and B is expected to be completed by Q4 2025, and it will address Metro Vancouver’s industrial shortage by offering high-demand spaces in a newly sought after market.

Historically known for its rural landscape, Mission is an evolving real estate submarket in the Fraser Valley.

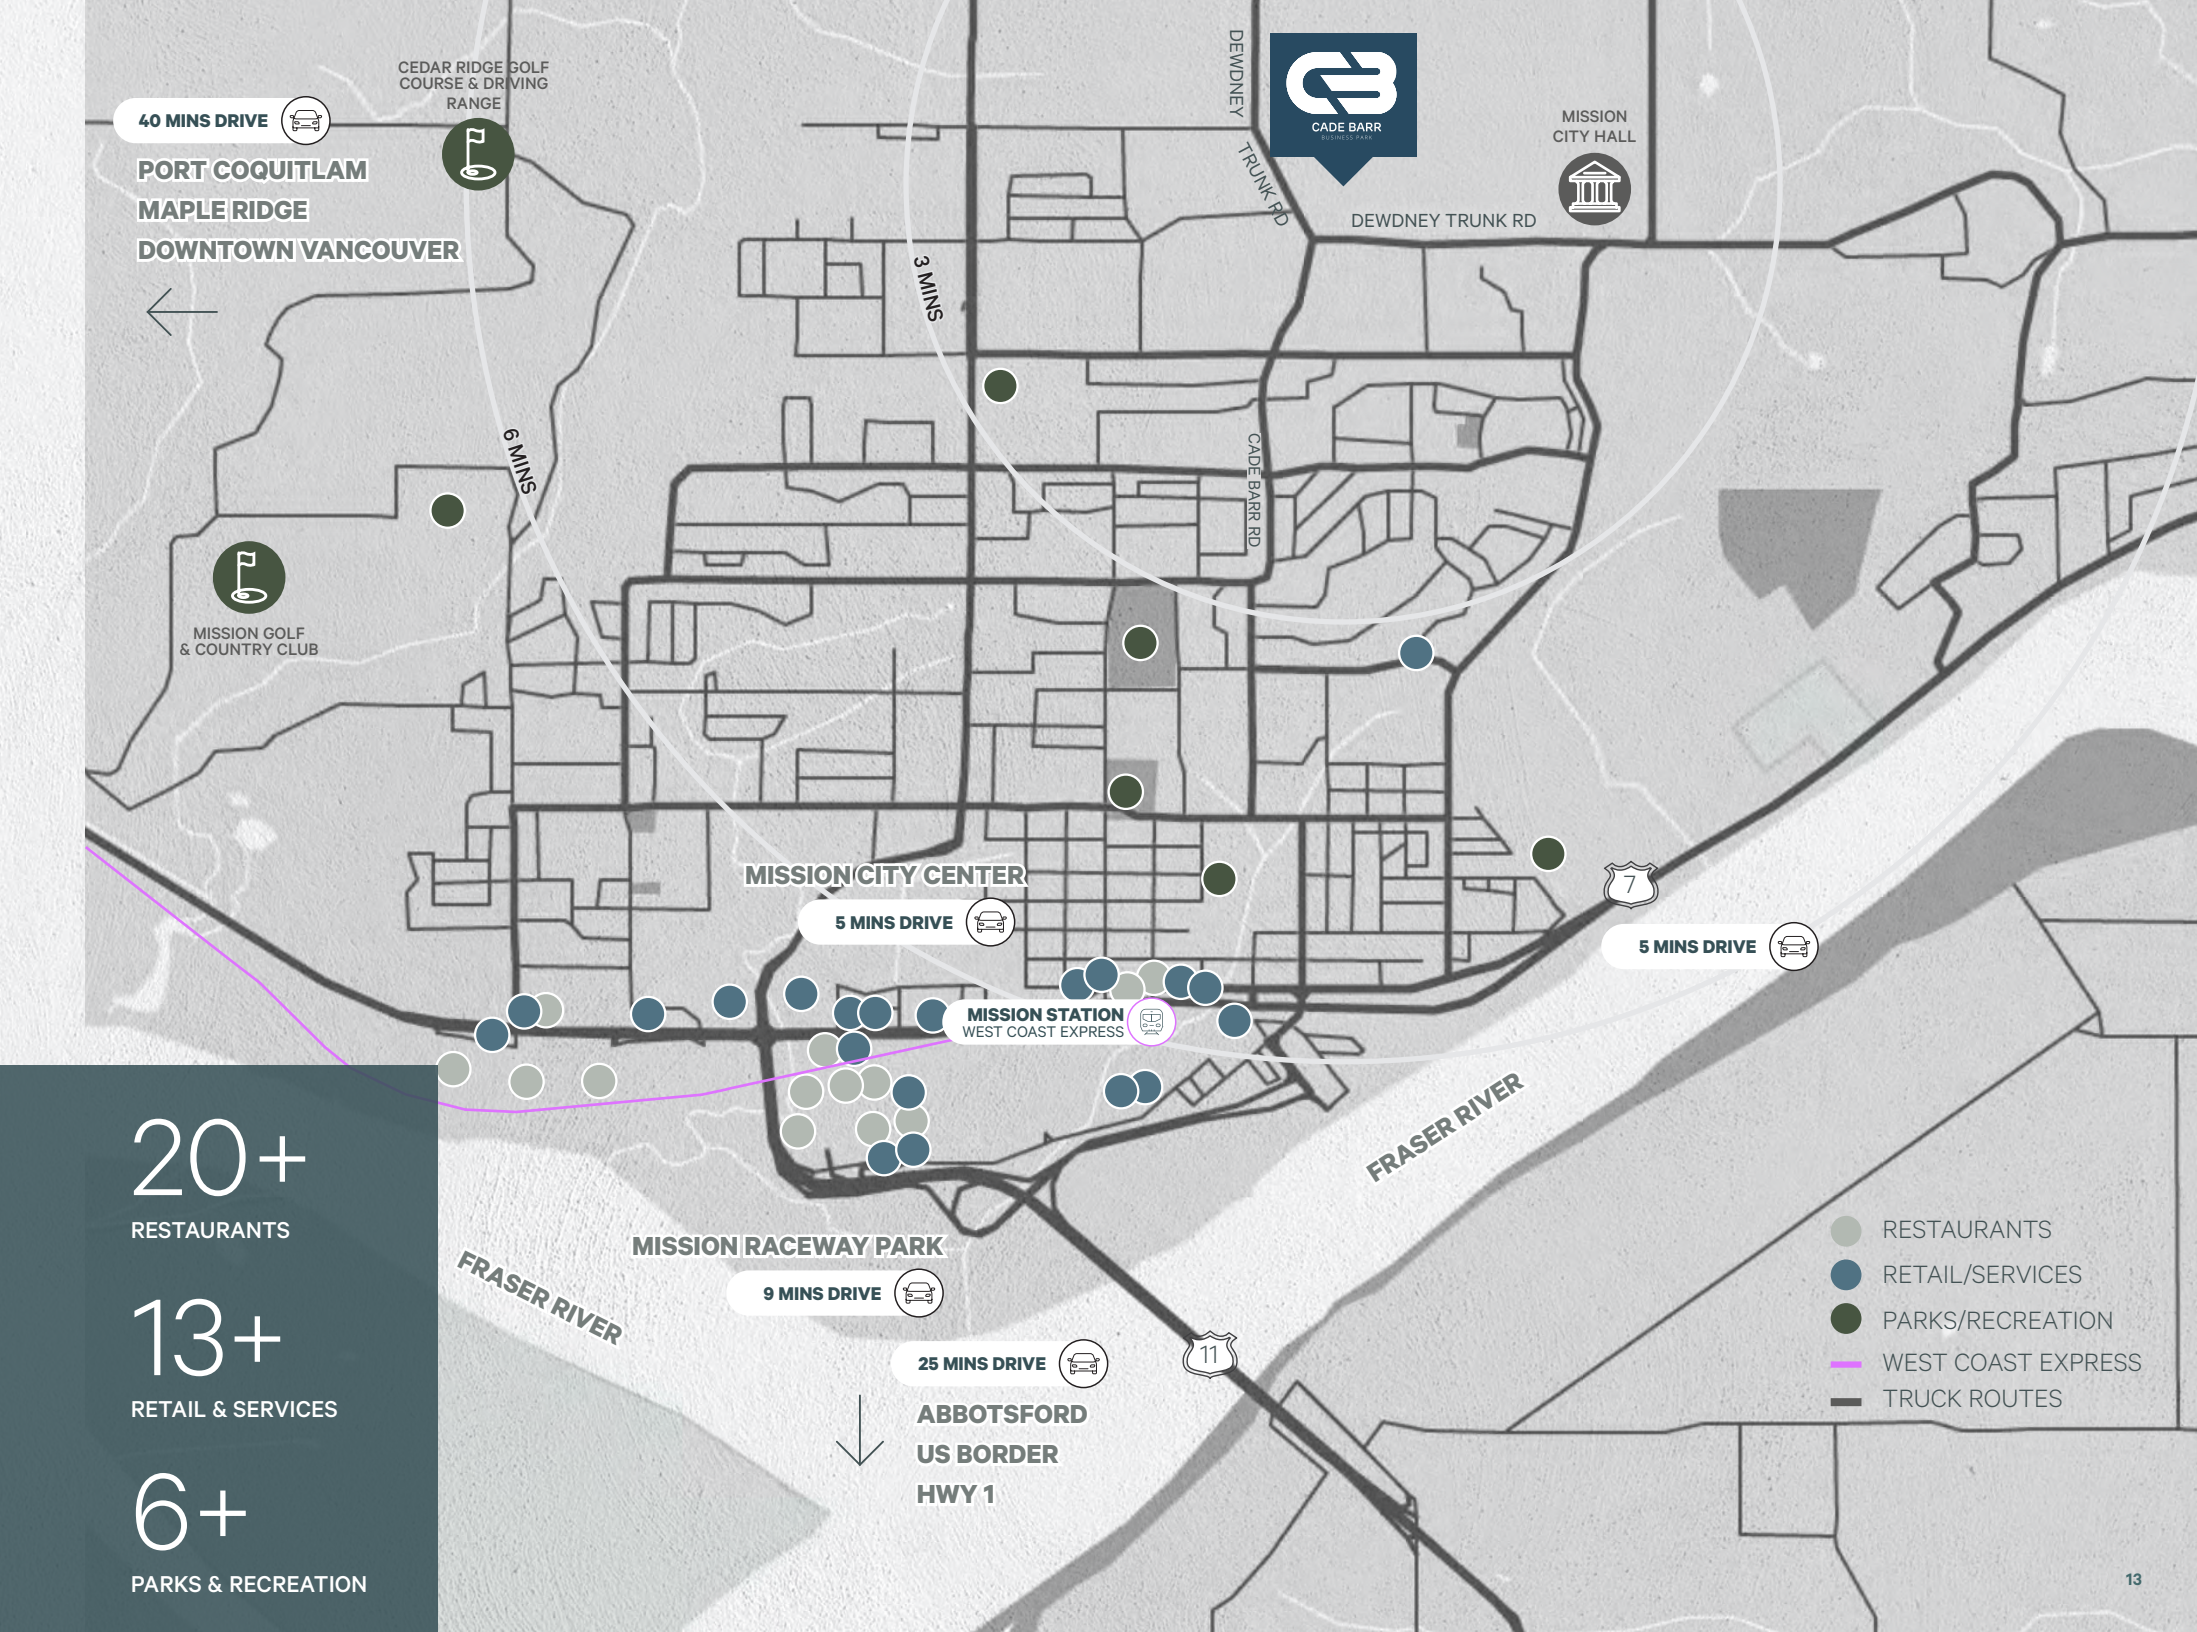

THE AREA

Tucked away on a southern coastal mountain slope, the vibrant and fast-growing community of Mission is only a swift drive from the USA border and 70 kilometers east of Downtown Vancouver. Its prime location, proximity to major arterial highway routes, and breathtaking natural scenery makes Mission an attractive destination for residents, businesses, and developers.

THE MARKET

Primed and ready for investment, mission offers spectacular natural beauty, affordable land, a diverse workforce and accessibility to major highways, border crossings and airports. Mission residents enjoy an enviable lifestyle, surrounded by spectacular mountain vistas, the Fraser River and a 26,000-acre municipal forest teeming with lakes and trails.

With a host of cultural, music and family events throughout the year, Mission encapsulates all that is community. It is therefore not surprising that there is significant interest from developers, investors and businesses looking to offer residential, commercial, industrial and institutional projects.

There are Big Plans for Mission.

Over the next several years, it is forecasted that Mission will witness a 9.2% growth in population, signaled by a surge in new home developments, and an injection of people into the labour market. Due to this foreseeable demand, the City of Mission undertook a series of public hearings, consultations and engagement sessions in order to understand the needs of the community and plan accordingly. With this, the Mission Waterfront Revitalization Plan was crafted and launched in 2020.

The plan encompasses a comprehensive 'made-by-Mission' roadmap that will guide land use decisions in the foreseeable future. At its core, the plan intends to reactivate unused property and transform it into vibrant business centres, various housing options, community amenities, and more in order to sustain a resilient and comprehensive community.
